

A diagnosable mental, behavior or emotional disorder (other than substance abuse) that interferes with major life activities.

Two or more disorders occurring in the same personal interactions between illnesses can worsen the course of both.

The need to use drug and/or alcohol on a daily basis to function through the day